

Moore, Ryan: Born: Sept. 18, 1983. From: Brighton, United Kingdom. Currently resides in Hungerford, Berkshire, England.

His father Gary is a former jump jockey and a trainer and his brothers, Jamie and Josh, are both steeplechase jockeys. His sister, Hayley, is also a jockey and made it to the final of a competition to become Britain's first female race caller. His dad's sister, Candy (with whom Moore is close) is also a jockey.

Champion apprentice in England in 2003 and has won multiple Championship jockey awards in Europe since then.

He is currently the first choice jockey for Aidan O'Brien's Ballydoyle operation, a role in which he mainly rides horses owned by Coolmore Stud. He also sometimes rides horses for Juddmonte and The Queen.

Overall, he's won Group 1 races in at least 10 different countries.

Moore is noted for getting to the racetrack early and walking the course, no matter how many times he's ridden there.
